

The Red House (52 Dr Csányi László Krt) was built in 1733 in Baroque style and it is recognised as a listed building. Through more than two centuries it was the the rural building of the bishopcy. Its striking colour was the result of the bricklayers from Naples working here.

